Invitation letter

Dear artist, Oktay Barkin

Gwangju Design Biennale was established in 2005 with the purpose to lead innovative value creation in life and the future through design, activate regional businesses and enhance national competitiveness through the popularization of design. This year, Gwangju Design Biennale will be holding its second International Invitational Poster Exhibition.

Gwangju Design Biennale will select 350 artists to introduce poster images that accord with the theme of 'D-Revolution', contain the discourse of the times, and enhance the value of life through design to the audience.

We look forward to the original ideas and active challenges from participating artists.

Event theme: D-Revolution

'D-Revolution' refers to the revolution through 'rediscovery', 'reestablishment' and 'reproduction', compared to the revolution through invention as in the past. Currently, the biggest change in society is in the lifestyle. As of 2020, the paradigm of relationships has changed drastically. Uncertainty is prevailing in the current era, and it is time for us to prepare revolution that is more powerful than change. Through this revolution, correspondence and cure for changes in everyday life will be expressed through a new way of communication such as unfact and contact-free, to present a design vision for the society and human community.
